Violence and Stalking

GRCC

If you have experienced interpersonal violence, consider these first steps:

Get Help

- Get to a safe place as soon as you can.
- If you believe you or anyone else is in immediate danger, call 911 as soon as possible.
- Once you are safe, contact someone you trust to be with you for support.

Get Medical Attention

- Seek medical attention as soon as possible.
- Medical attention may be necessary to mitigate the risk of sexually transmitted diseases or pregnancy.
- Even if you think you are physically OK, you may have injuries that need treatment.
- Forensic evidence may be collected if criminal prosecution is being considered or may be considered in the future.

Preserve Evidence and Seek Support

- Evidence may be used to provide proof of criminal activity or in obtaining a protection order.
- Evidence is best collected as soon as possible or within 120 hours of the assault.

- Sexual Assault Nurse Examiner (SANE) Programs: On-call nurse examiner programs are especially important for victims of sexual assault for evaluation, treatment, and evidence collection. They are available 24 hours a day at no cost.

- Remember that self-care is an important part in coping with the event.

HOW WE RESOLVE INCIDENTS OF INTERPERSONAL VIOLENCE

GRCC Processes for Resolving Incident of Interpersonal Violence

Know that if you have experienced domestic violence, dating violence, sexual assault, stalking or gender discrimination by a GRCC employee or student, there are several processes available to address the incident. You will have a voice in the process.

The processes at GRCC range from a formal Title IX investigation and hearing process under federal law, less formal investigations under the GRCC Sexual Harassment Policy to simply receiving supportive measures with no investigation taking place per your request. A GRCC Title IX Coordinator can discuss the options available to you.

Sexual assault, domestic violence, dating violence, and stalking may be found to be criminal acts, which may also subject the respondent to criminal and civil penalties under federal and state law.

GRCC protects your privacy. Information is shared only when absolutely necessary, however, Michigan is a mandatory reporting state for certain crimes, such as child abuse. You should discuss your desires regarding the sharing of information with any GRCC employee with whom you speak to ensure you understand their reporting obligation and what information they may be required to share.
